Now for the state fair!

Will Brattleboro invite author Kipling to visit that town on his present trip to America?

Wall street has had another scare. This from the Wall Street Journal tells what it is: "The prices of beans and pie have been raised in Boston, the former 50 and the latter 100 per cent. Is this attributable to the great production of gold, or is it the result of predatory wealth? By all means, let us have an investigation."

The milkmen and the Montpelier city council are both considerably agitated over the milk question. Milk furnished for consumption should be pure and clean, and from cows free from disease. If it is so, the farmer has a right to charge all he can get for it, and at 6 cents a quart it is cheaper than most foods. While nearly everything else has been going up in price, milk has been about the last article on which a raise was made.

At the present rate of progress, if credit be shaken, President Roosevelt will not be the person who will tumble the walls of the palace about the ears of the community, like a house of cards in a gale. That traction muddle in New York shows what some men who like to be thought "conservative" can do to injure private credit and public honor. What President Roosevelt and Governor Hughes are trying to do is to make securities secure. Preposterous is the mismanagement which brought the tremendous transportation enterprises of New York into their befuddled financial condition. It is not business, but piracy. —Boston Herald.

PRODUCE AND ART.

The hen remarked to the muley cow, As she cackled her daily lay (That is, the hen cackled): "It's funny how

I'm good for an egg a day. I'm a fool to do it, for what do I get? My food and my lodging. My! But the poodle gets that—he's the house-hold pet

And he has never laid a single egg yet—Not even when eggs are high."

The muley cow remarked to the hen, As she masticated her cud (That is, the cow did): "Well, what then?

You spit, and your name is mud. I'm good for eight gallons of milk each day.

And I'm given my milk and my grub; But the parrot gets that much—anyway All she can gobble—and what does she say?

Not a dribble of milk, the dub!"

But the hired man remarked to the pair: "You get all that comin' to you.

The poodle does tricks, an' the parrot kin swear.

Which is better th'n you kin do. You're necessary, but what's the use 'O' bewailin' your daily part?

You're bourgeois—workin's your only excuse: You can't do nothin' but just produce—What them fellers does is Art!"

—Musicians' Chronicle.

More Water.

"And the name is to be"—asked the suave minister as he approached the font with the precious armful of fat and flounces.

"Augustus Philip Ferdinand Codrington Chesterfield Livingston Snooks."

"Dear me!" Turning to the sexton: "A little more water, Mr. Hawkins, if you please."—Tit-Bits.

Where Marriage Is Happy.

Dublaiv took a walk in the cemetery, where he noticed on the tombstone "Good husband," "good wife," "good son."

"It is evidently here that the happiest homes are to be found," reflected.—Notre Loisirs.

Mean.

About the meanest thing a woman can do when her husband's name is mentioned is to sigh, look resigned and say nothing.—Chicago News.

BARRE, VERMONT

MONTPELIER

A northbound freight derailed a car at the Junction yesterday morning, shortly before noon, but luckily the main line was not obstructed.

While waiting at the Montpelier Junction for the Boston mail train Saturday afternoon the passengers were amused by the antics of five deer in the lot just west of the station.

The silver service presented by the state to the battleship Vermont was shipped yesterday by express from the state treasurer's vault to the Vermont association of Boston, and the presentation ceremony will occur October 4th. The service cost the state $3,386.

There is another case typhoid fever in West Berlin. Harold Hewitt, son of A. L. Hewitt, was taken ill at his boarding place in West Berlin several days ago and was brought to his home a week ago Wednesday. He has a trained nurse with him and is doing nicely.

Mrs. Ellen Sullivan Herbert died at the home of George Herbert, her son, in Middlesex about 10 o'clock Sunday morning, after a long illness. She was in poor health all last winter and nearly all summer has been confined to the bed. The cause of death was a general breaking down of old age. She was 70 years of age.

Hon. and Mrs. J. A. DeBoer returned Sunday from the Jamestown Exposition where Mr. DeBoer delivered the principal address on Vermont day. They were accompanied home from New York by Miss Minnie, their daughter, who has been visiting there. Mr. DeBoer states that while not as large as other world's fairs the Jamestown Exposition is a very creditable exhibition, the historical department in particular being very good and in this department Vermont is very creditably represented, comparing exceptionally well with the other states. Mr. and Mrs. DeBoer spent four days at the exposition. They stopped at Washington, New York and Albany on the way home.

Chief of Police Durkee has received a letter and circular of warning from Arthur A. Ferguson, secretary of the board of managers of the Athens, Colorado and Industrial Institute of Athens, Tennessee, stating that Rev. C. L. Withrow, colored, is collecting funds in the New England states for the institution without authority, having been dismissed as president of the school Oct. 30, 1906. Withrow is described as well educated, about 5 feet 9 inches in height, well dressed and capable of deceiving anyone. Mr. Ferguson wishes the matter given wide publicity and desires information as to Withrow's whereabouts at present. The police have no information relative to his having been in this vicinity up to date.

Patrick Higgins, known as "The Wire King," who August 8 last was hit by a Central Vermont train between this city and Barre and had one leg broken, will soon be discharged from the Boston hospital. The city of Montpelier and the Central Vermont railway both object to paying his bills at the hospital, and as Higgins has no money it is an unsettled question who will liquidate his indebtedness at that institution. He is without any known place of residence and was selling wire coat hangers at the time he was injured.

Washington county court was in session a brief time yesterday afternoon to hear the divorce case of Ruth E. King of Montpelier against Albert L. King of Portland, Me. The suit was brought for desertion and refusal to support. Mr. King was a traveling salesman who at one time resided in Burlington. The petitioner claimed that for the three years they lived together she was obliged to furnish money to support the family, as he spent all he earned playing poker. Mrs. King was represented by H. C. Shurtleff.

RANDOLPH CENTER.

Miss Martha Gilbert has purchased the Dr. Parkhurst house at Randolph. C. P. Fullam has the cellar wall built for a large barn that he will build next spring.

Louis Tatro was severely injured recently by being struck in the back by the end of a wagon pole.

J. W. Parmenter has moved the building that was used many years for a cider mill, and will convert it into a barn.

End of World Near.

St. Wayne, Oct. 1.—Bishop Walter Sellow of Jamestown, N. Y., who has been presiding at the Free Methodist conference for northern Indiana, greatly excited the members of the local Free Methodist church by a sermon predicting the end of the world within a few months.

Hail Storm in Richford.

Richford, Oct. 1.—A severe thunder storm passed over this place yesterday afternoon, followed by a hail storm, lasting perhaps three minutes. Hail stones a half-inch and more in diameter fell during the storm.

DIGGING DEEP THROUGH DIXIE.

When President Roosevelt arrives in St. Louis Oct. 2 by steamer, on his way from Keokuk to Memphis, he will be greeted by 3,000 trained voices with 50,000 other persons in the chorus, singing "Dig Her Deep Through Dixie," to the tune of that stirring old song of the South-land. The method by which the words of the song will be distributed in St. Louis and Memphis is novel. Small paper boats, similar to those made in the kindergarten schools, will be handed out. On the outside is the inscription, "Open and sing." On the margin are the words "River regulation is rate regulation." The boat idea was adopted as being appropriate to the cause. Here is the song:

Oh, de Mississippi am de very river,
 From high rates our land to deliver,
 Dig away, dig away, dig away—through Dixie.
 From de Alleghenies to de Rockies gushin',
 Down she comes wif a mighty rushin',
 Dig away, dig away, dig away—through Dixie.

Chorus.

Then dig her deep through Dixie,
 Dig away, dig away, dig away—bigger,
 Wif fourteen feet she can't be beat.
 For hauling in freight through Dixie;
 Dig away, dig away,
 Oh, dig her deep through Dixie.

De railroad's troubled wif a bad consequence,
 So dey are in dere own confestyun.
 Dig away, dig away, dig away—through Dixie.
 De corn and wheat in de shocks am a spilin',
 While good time on de lan' am smilin',
 Dig away, dig away, dig away—through Dixie.

[Chorus.]

Oh, Uncle Sam is a mighty digger,
 And his big canal keep a gettin' bigger.
 Dig away, dig away, dig away—bigger,
 Dig away, dig away, dig away—through Dixie.

[Chorus.]

Oh, since he's such a generous giver
 We gits to set him to hep his river,
 Dig away, dig away, dig away—bigger,
 Dig away, dig away, dig away—through Dixie.

[Chorus.]

Oh, since he's such a generous giver
 We gits to set him to hep his river,
 Dig away, dig away, dig away—bigger,
 Dig away, dig away, dig away—through Dixie.

TO DAPHNE'S GLOVE.

The dainty glove that Daphne wears!—
 I envy thee, proud bit of kid,
 That clasps her slender hand unchilled
 And, held and bolder, even dares
 To squeeze her fingers quite unbid.
 Oh, lucky glove that Daphne wears!

Sometimes to button thee I'm bid:
 Then life indeed doth lose its cares
 And rapturous fire o'er me flares—
 I too, may squeeze her palm unbid.
 I bless thee that thou com'st in pairs—
 Oh, dainty glove that Daphne wears!
